We are delighted to announce that Nigel Parsons and Chris Fegan have accepted an offer to join the board with effect from April. This is an important step in our development, securing for us the additional senior capacity we need to take the company forward to the next stages of its development. Both are excited by the opportunities they've seen whilst working with us - and have shown real commitment by buying shares in the business.

At present Chris is completing a contract within the Home Office and will be able to divert his energies towards us more fully when that finishes at the end of August. Nigel continues with his client work but is already working on a number of strategic developments to position us for future success.

Nigel Parsons

Nigel has been working with ValueAdding.com Ltd for a year, leading a series of process redesign and change projects in Social Services related environments. He brings a wealth of relevant experience to the company from his previous career spanning senior roles in both consulting and industry. Immediately before joining us he was European MD for a major business to a business service provider and prior to that he spent 15 years at C&L / PwC Consulting (10 as a Director).

Nigel says "I've really enjoyed working with the team at ValueAdding and our clients over the past year. I'm excited by the potential I've seen at first hand. We have an excellent base to build on and I'm looking forward to making a contribution to our continuing growth and success "

Chris Fegan

Chris has worked with ValueAdding.com Ltd for the past 6 years in both Local and Central Government Projects. His experience in Consultancy projects covers many services within Local Government, including Housing, Childrens' Services, Planning, Passenger Transport and SEN to name a few. In both Local and Central Government Chris' expertise has also been put to good effect within Transformation projects in back office processes such as HR, Finance and Procurement. Prior to consultancy Chris spent 8 years within the Service Industry resulting in the running of the Customer Service Teams within a multinational telecoms company.

Chris says "Working with ValueAdding.com over the years has been a superb opportunity to be involved in a company that has the right ethics and approach to business in terms of it's clients and consultants alike. We are an established consultancy company and I look forward to the challenge of helping to take the business to its next stage of development"
